Top Fuel Contender Brittany Force '10 Is NHRA's Newest Record Machine

Brittany Force '10 is anything but a one-hit wonder when it comes to success in the Top Fuel ranks of the NHRA Camping World Drag Racing Series. The 2017 champion is stacking records these days. Force went 3.666 seconds at 338.08 mph in qualifying at Summit Motorsports Park at Norwalk to set track records for both quickest and fastest runs ever at the Ohio track. In May, Force set track records in her Monster Energy dragster for quickest and fastest runs in qualifying at Virginia Motorsports Park, near Richmond. Force now holds 12 speed records and 10 ET (elapsed time) records at dragstrips currently on the NHRA schedule. Most of those marks have come over the past two seasons.
