Alumni Set Up Medical Clinic for Ukrainian Refugees in Tijuana

Dr. Eric Hargis '08 has been serving as the medical director of a grassroots clinic in Tijuana, BC, MX, providing aid for hundreds of Ukrainian refugees escaping war in their homeland. The alumnus and his wife, Christina Hargis '10, both earned bachelor's degrees in health science before pursuing careers as a doctor and physician assistant, respectively. The couple initiated the clinic in Tijuana after learning that Ukrainian refugees were in need of medical care.

Titans in the Spotlight

“Titan legacy superstar,” John W. “Jack” Bedell

When Cal State Fullerton President Fram Virjee had the idea for a new university award to honor an individual who is a “Titan legacy superstar,” only one name came to mind. His name is John W. “Jack” Bedell, the late professor emeritus of sociology. For his service, leadership and for making a lasting impact on the campus community, Bedell is the inaugural honoree of the President’s Award of Distinction. Virjee presented the award to Bedell's wife, Sue, and his family members at the April 21 University Awards Program.
